J. L. SEMPLE'S DEFENSE

COUNSEL FOR THE CAMDEN LAWYER ADDRESSES THE JURY.

Says His Client Did Not Know Taylor and Bredell Were Counterfeiting Money in Prison.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20 .- The government this afternoon rested its case in the trial before Judge McPherson in the United States District Court, of John L. Semple, the Camden, N. J., lawyer who is accused of conspiring with Arthur Taylor and tions. We came here to attend school, and Baldwin S. Bredeil, the convicted counterfeiters, to make twenty-dollar notes while do we propose to allow any one to impose they were in Moyamensing prison awaiting sentence for their conection with the celebrated $100 notes and cigar revenue stamp swindle. The defense, as outlined by one of Semple's attorneys, Eckerd P. Budd, in his opening address to the jury, will be that Semple was entirely ignorant of the fact that Taylor and Bredell were making counterfeit money in prison with a view of surrendering the plates in order to secure clemency from the court when they came up for sentence. Among the witnesses called by the government to-day was Chief of the Secret Service John E. Wilkie, Secret Service Operator William J. Burns, Harry Taylor, brother of Arthur Taylor, and who is under indictment for circulating the notes made in prison by his brother; Mrs. Annie Taylor, mother of the Taylor brothers, and gold. He writes that he is in robust health Mrs. Mary Coxe, of Camden, N. J., sister and that he will not remain there over a Chief Wilkie in his testimony reviewed the case and said that after Semple was arrested he searched the lawyer's safe and found therein, among other things, ten new one dollar bills. Arthur Taylor, when he was on the stand, said the twenty-dollar notes were made from genuine onedollar notes he and Bredell having bleached the one-dollar notes by a chemical process. Taylor also testified that Semple had brought them over one hundred of the new one dollar bills. Taylor also testified that she had taken various articles to prison which were used in the making of the counterfelts. She also took them away when the prisoners had finished their work and also said she took the engraved plates from prison at the request of her son and buried them in a cemetery. WOMEN SMUGGLERS.

Wives and Daughters of Wealthy Men

Accused of Violating Law. SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 20 .- Prominent Seattle women, the wives and daughters of wealthy business and professional men, according to United States secret service detectives, have been conducting systematic smuggling operations on a large scale. Their violations of the law have become so frequent that the matter is receiving serious consideration from government officers. It may be necessary to undertake proceedings against them. A large quantity of expensive silks and dress goods were smuggled into this city from Victoria during the past winter.

Miss Minas swore that she had heard a struggle in Ayres's room the morning he was killed heard the three shots and heard a faint cry for help. She insisted that he had been murdered, while up to this time Mrs. Bonine claimed he killed himself. Her statement as to this changed as soon as she learned of Miss Minas's evidence and she admitted without hesitation that she alone was responsible for the killing. Then Mrs. Bonine told the police the story of how Ayres had come to her room on the morning of May 15 and aroused her, saying that he was suffering with a bad cold and asking her to come to his room. When she went to his room, she claims, she pushed the door open, found him in front of it clad in an undershirt and that he drew her in and locked the door. She asserts that she struggled with him to save her honor, and that in the contest the revolver which he had in his hand was discharged and both fell to the floor. She was the only one to rise and the revolver was in her hand. Finding him dead and wishing to avoid scandal, she claims, she stepped over his dead body, raised the window, descended the fire escape to the dining-room floor, entered that room and then ascended to her own room without meeting any one. ACTION AT WASHINGTON.

to Protect the Railway.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.-The news of the capture of Colon by the Colombian Liberals caused a decided commotion in the State and Navy departments to-day. There were long conferences between Secretary State Dr. Hill. Later the two last named opened up transit across the Isthmus of Panama, that communication had actually States naval forces.

The first news of the trouble at Colon came from United States Consul General Gudger, at Panama. He telegraphed the State Department that a considerable number of Liberals had taken passage on the railroad (he did not indicate where), and, arriving at a certain point, had cut the telegraph wires and taken up a rail, thus breaking communication. Later there came a second message from Consul General ing at a fancied burglar, William D. Brock-Gudger announcing that Colon had been taken. This was confirmed more explicitly by United States Consul Malmros, stationed at Colon. The latter official said that Colon was taken by the rebels last night. While all business is suspended, ransit is not interrupted and American life and property are safe and not likely to be in danger.

Taken altogether these dispatches were regarded by the officials here as indicating a lack of purpose on the part of the Liberals to interfere with transit across the isthmus. It was felt that the brief interruption caused by the taking up of the rails and the cutting of the telegraph wires was nothing more than a temporary device to prevent the government from hurrying reinforcements by rail to Colon. The officials found support for this belief in the fact that communication was reopened across the isthmus the moment Colon was captured. Still, as a result of the consultation to-day it was resolved not to take any chances of an infringement of the treaty rights of the United States. Therefore Secretary Hill cabled Consul General Gudger directions to notify all parties who are engaged in molesting or interfering with free transit across the isthmus that | fee itself. such interference must cease. He also was directed to consult freely with Captain Perry, commander of the United States battleship lowa, now lying at Panama. The fighting continued all that (Tuesday) night and the next morning an armistice was declared in order that the dead might be buried and the wounded cared for, Two insurgent generals and several government officers were slain during the desperate fighting. The armistice was extended until noon of Thursday. Owing to a misunderstanding, however, the insurgents renewed their attacks upon the suburbs of the city Wednesday night and the fighting lasted eleven hours. During the fight the casualties on both sides were extremely heavy. The next morning the tide of battle was turned against the insurgents by the arrival on an express train from Colon of 800 fresh troops to reinforce the government and on the afternoon of the same day a treaty of peace between the government and the revolutionists was signed, General Alban, then acting Governor of Panama, and to-day at the head
